

Associate Membership and Chapter Relations Chair

Ipek Bilgen is a Senior Research Methodologist in the Statistics and Methodology Department at NORC at the University of Chicago. Bilgen is AmeriSpeak Panel's lead research methodologist and is responsible for overseeing AmeriSpeak's methodological research. She has over a decade of experience in applied survey methods and received both her Ph.D. and M.S. from the Survey Research and Methodology (SRAM) Program at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Bilgen has published and co-authored articles in the Journal of Official Statistics, Public Opinion Quarterly, Survey Practice, Social Currents, Social Science Computer Review, Field Methods, and Quality and Quantity on topics including interviewing methodology, web surveys, internet sampling and recruitment approaches, cognition and communication, and measurement error in surveys. She is a frequent speaker in national and international conferences and workshops on survey methodology. Her current research focuses on the investigation of panel non-response, panel recruitment and retention, total survey error sources in mixed mode surveys, the use of web and emerging technologies in surveys, and questionnaire design and survey implementation.

Bilgen is currently serving as President of the Midwest Association for Public Opinion Research (MAPOR). Previously, she has served as MAPOR Secretary-Treasurer and Conference Chair. She has been a member of MAPOR's Executive Council since 2014. She is currently serving on the American Association for Public Opinion Research (AAPOR)'s Membership and Chapter Relations (MCR) and Standards Committees. Bilgen has been a member of AAPOR since 2006 and has presented regularly at annual AAPOR conferences since then, as she enjoys the friendly community of AAPOR.